

Privacy Policy

for PacificEast Group of Companies

Last Revised: November 8, 2017

This Privacy Policy is relevant to information collected by PacificEast Research Corporation, PacificEast Research Inc. (hereafter PacificEast), on or via its websites including sites for IDICIA.com, a division of PacificEast Research; or, to information passed to it as a Processor On Behalf by organizations which control or own the information. This policy is designed to ensure that both registered customers who use our private websites to submit information to be processed, and individuals who submit information as part of an opt-in process, understand how we use information provided in each of those circumstances. In both these cases, PacificEast endeavors to transparently follow the privacy principles, as described below.

Types of Personal Data Collected

PacificEast commits to be subject to the Privacy Shield Principles for all personal data that PacificEast receives from the EEA (European Economic Area) in reliance on the Privacy Shield. Personal data on US citizens received from customers based in the U.S. falls under the regulatory authority of the US Federal Trade Commission. Information regarding the Privacy Shield framework and PacificEast's certification can be found at: <https://www.privacyshield.gov>.

PacificEast maintains an E-Newsletter and an RSS feed with which to communicate with our customers and prospective customers. Email addresses obtained via the website are collected when individuals ask to opt-in to our email lists, RSS feeds or other opt-in communications or when a customer initiates a transaction or service order for which an email is necessary for communications regarding the transaction or service.

From Website Visitors, including those in the EEA, PacificEast may collect the following types of personal data:

- contact information
- company information
- other personal data provided by website visitors

Customers who transact with PacificEast or PacificEast customers, including those who initiate transactions or order and/or pay for products or services on a PacificEast website, will be verified using PacificEast identity and attribute verification services. By transacting in the above manner, customers or consumers authorize their mobile operator and/or telecommunications service provider to disclose account details for the purpose of verifying the customer's identity. Those details may include, among others, the customer's name, business name, billing address, email, and phone number. When verifying the validity of a phone number, PacificEast obtains phone number status information from the telecommunication service provider to which that number is assigned. We use this information to ascertain the validity of the phone number or information related to it that has been provided by customers, businesses or consumers.

From our service customers, PacificEast may receive the following types of personal data about their clients and prospects, some of which may be residents of an EEA country:

- contact information;
- company information;
- other personal or contact information provided by our customers

Purposes of Collection and Use

PacificEast collects and uses personal data of Website Visitors solely for the purpose of communicating with them and providing the services and/or information they request. PacificEast receives client and prospect contact data from our Business Customers (some of whom may be located in the EEA) for the purposes of:

- providing client and prospect data hygiene, standardization and appending services to our business customers
- providing products, services and support to our customers
- conducting related tasks for legitimate business purposes
- other purposes requested and/or disclosed at the time of collection

Commitment to Subject to the Principles

We subject to the Privacy Shield Principles all European personal data that we receive from individuals or companies in the EEA in reliance on the Privacy Shield. We may also receive some data in reliance on other compliance mechanisms, including data processing agreements based on the EU Standard Contractual Clauses.

Type of Third Parties to Which We Disclose Personal Data and Purposes

PacificEast does not share personal contact information we collect from customers via our websites with any third party other than for the purpose of verifying their identities and processing transactions requested by them. PacificEast, as a Processor On Behalf of our customers and only at the request of our customers, may share the consumer or business contact information of our customer's clients and prospects with companies operating in the US, Canada or the EEA with the following types of third parties and for the stated purposes:

- subsidiaries, affiliates and contractors, who perform data hygiene, standardization or appending on the contact data supplied by our customers
- other third party service providers contracted to provide services on our behalf
- other corporate entities if PacificEast goes through a business transition, such as a merger, acquisition by another company, or sale of all or a portion of its assets

Choices and Means

When acting as a Processor On Behalf processing consumer or business contact information under the direction of our registered customers, PacificEast has no direct relationship with the individuals whose personal data we process. The data processing services performed by PacificEast may require PacificEast to use contracted third-party agents acting, in turn, on our behalf for the purpose of providing standardization, verification, hygiene or appending services. In all cases, these third-party agents are contractually limited to no less than the same level of care, protection, control and restriction of use than is PacificEast. It is the responsibility of PacificEast's registered customers to inform individuals about the possibility of such disclosures and provide individuals with the choice of opting out of them.

Visitors to a PacificEast website, including those from the EEA or EEA Business Contacts can, at any time after registering for information, change their mind about receiving information from us and cancel any account or request. This can be done by contacting us via the contact information in the "Right to Access" section below. Otherwise, we will retain and use their supplied information for as long as needed to provide them services, comply with our legal obligations, resolve disputes and enforce our agreements or process transactions they have requested.

Notice

Each PacificEast registered customer is provided with private and secure login access. PacificEast does not partner with or have special relationships with any Ad server companies. PacificEast does not place cookies on user machines. However, website performance and benchmarking software used by PacificEast may place a cookie on a user's machine for the purpose of benchmarking and analyzing website traffic. PacificEast may utilize that information only to gather analytics and performance data about our public websites. The only individual information PacificEast itself collects and controls are the email addresses of clients who opt-in to receive email notifications and newsletters or the billing and contact information of customers transacting with PacificEast.

Data processing services may be performed on business or consumer/individual information, (known as "client information") some of which may be personally identifiable. Such information may be appended to, standardized and/or verified based on the request of our registered customers. The information provided to PacificEast for these purposes from our registered customers is processed and then sent back to the registered customer. PacificEast does not retain any customer information without the expressed, written consent of that customer, and even then it retains such information only for billing, assessment and verification of data quality, or for customer convenience to assist them with questions regarding billing or data quality. When PacificEast is contracted by a customer to provide services as a Processor On Behalf it does not accumulate, compile, aggregate or otherwise integrate the customer data into any of our products or services unless specifically requested by our customers to do so.

Onward Transfer Liability

As defined in the EU-U.S. Privacy Shield Framework (<https://www.privacyshield.gov>) PacificEast acts as a Processor On Behalf of other organizations. Information temporarily passed to and processed by PacificEast for those organizations is not considered to be an "onward transfer" since ownership of and responsibility and control over the information processed has not been transferred. PacificEast informs any registered customers which we know to be subject to the privacy laws of the UK or EU that we adhere to the Privacy Principles of the EU-US Privacy Shield Framework as described below in the section on Privacy Shield.

PacificEast remains liable under the Privacy Shield Principles if the company's third-party Processor "onward transfer" recipients process relevant Personal Data in a manner inconsistent with the Privacy Shield Principles, unless PacificEast proves that it is not responsible for the event giving rise to the damage.

Access

When acting as a Processor On Behalf, PacificEast has no direct relationship with the individuals whose personal data we process. Any individual, including those in the EEA, who seek access to correct, amend, or delete inaccurate data must first attempt to direct their request to the Organization which has contracted with PacificEast for such processing. PacificEast may, in the interests of safety, privacy of an individual or regulatory compliance, implement systems which allow an authenticated individual to effectively prevent information about themselves, including Personally Identifiable Information (PII) or Personal Health Information (PHI) from being passed through our systems. Such requests must be presented in writing to PacificEast and submitted either to our mailing address (noted at the bottom of this section) or emailed to info@pacificeast.com. Such requests will be processed only if and after PacificEast is able to authenticate that the individual making the request and the individual described by the relevant information are the same and if PacificEast controls the individual's relevant PII or PHI. PacificEast cannot enforce restrictions on information controlled by another entity, including covered entities as defined by HIPAA.

If a registered customer or prospective customer has already opted-in for PacificEast communications and do not want to receive an e-mail or E-Newsletter from PacificEast in the future, we request that they let us know by sending an e-mail notification to info@pacificeast.com.
